INTRODUCTION

In recent years, a completely new system is being created in the field of raising the spiritual potential of young people in Uzbekistan. This system creates an important basis for increasing the activity of young people, increasing their sense of belonging to the fate of the Motherland and the people, and for the realization of a strong civic position of the young generation. Today, in our country, the state policy of raising the spiritual potential of youth, the topic of raising the legal and political culture of young people requires comprehensive study based on political, sociological, philosophical, historical, and legal approaches.

"State youth policy is a system of socio-economic, organizational and legal measures carried out by the state and taking into account the creation of conditions for the social formation of young people and the development of their intellectual, creative and other potential"[1].

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

In the preparation of this article, methods of scientific knowledge such as complex, chronological, systematic approach, knowledge, field research, systematicity, generalization, analogy were used.

ANALYSIS AND RESULTS

As Shavkat Mirziyoyev noted, "Ensuring economic and political stability in the conditions of the global crisis, addressing existing local problems, supporting our compatriots in need of help, realizing the dreams and hopes of our youth - this should be the main task of leaders at all levels, starting with the President. The main requirement in the implementation of these very important tasks is to ensure effective cooperation between state and community institutions, to increase efficiency and quality in this process"[2]. In this sense, in our country, the study of the state policy on raising the spiritual potential of young people and its theoretical research are of great importance, and this is reflected in the following:

firstly, from the point of view of the pluralism of opinions in social life, in the process of our national growth, the issue of the spiritual potential of youth is analyzed through the existing state programs and represents a new way of looking at the world in accordance with the requirements of the present time;

Secondly, the place and importance of the growth of the spiritual capacity of the youth in the development of the society, the political, economic and spiritual interests of the state and the society in modern socio-political processes are studied in a dialectical relationship;

Thirdly, to analyze the content-essence of young people's spiritual capacity and its role in social life on the basis of questionnaires, and eliminate the existing shortcomings and problems. In our opinion, if the practical activity is focused on the solution of the problems that need to be solved in this particular spiritual field, the result will certainly be positive;

Fourthly, the analysis of the state policy on youth shows its influence on inter-ethnic harmony, religious tolerance in our country and its role in our national policy;

fifthly, by studying the dialectic of interrelationship of the spiritual potential of the youth with the events of the country's social development and the rise of the society, it creates an opportunity to analyze the features of this process related to the development of the society;

sixthly, reforms in the socio-political, economic and spiritual spheres of our country, based on the idea of "New Uzbekistan - a new outlook" in society, serve to increase the spiritual potential of young people.

In this sense, in order to improve the state policy on youth, it is necessary to use modern means and methods of identifying talented young people in our country, to educate and support them, and to systematically organize the activities of leading specialists-employees of political institutes and educational institutions to change the spiritual and political image of young people. is being extended. At the end of these strategic reforms, the task of developing an intellectually capable, politically intelligent and spiritually mature generation is leading.

The Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On State Policy Regarding Youth" signed by President Shavkat Mirziyoyev on September 14, 2016 aimed at improving the morale of youth in our country [3], PF-4947 of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated February 7, 2017 "On the Strategy of Actions for Further Development of the Republic of Uzbekistan" -no.[4] dated June 27, 2018 "Youth is our future" State program" PF-5466 no.[5] dated June 30, 2020 "Reforming the state policy regarding youth in the Republic of Uzbekistan and bringing it to a new stage on measures" No. PF-6017[6], dated July 1, 2020 "On the organization of the activities of the Youth Affairs Agency of the Republic of Uzbekistan" No. PQ-4768[7], dated December 3, 2020 "Talented youth Decisions PQ-4910[8] "On measures to improve the selection system and activities of academic lyceums" and other legal documents are the legal basis for the realization of current goals in these areas.

These adopted normative legal documents indicate that special attention is paid to increasing the spiritual potential of young people, strengthening their rights and freedoms, comprehensively ensuring their interests, and actively involving youth public organizations in this process.

It is also necessary to note that the United Nations has ratified a number of universal normative documents in order to guarantee the rights and freedoms of the young generation at the international level in order to ensure the consistent implementation of the youth policy in our country. Among them are a number of universal documents, such as the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights", the Convention on the Rights of the Child, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

In today's integration process, taking into account the demands and needs of the current era, updating and improving the legal base, raising the state policy regarding youth to a new level and coordinating with it in the existing normative legal documents, developing new laws, state programs, especially strengthening public control in this regard. it is one of the important directions in the life of the state and society.

We can see the specific aspects of this for our country in the following:

firstly, the role and importance of young people is increasing at the stage of development of New Uzbekistan;

secondly, the continuity and continuity of every process related to the development of civil society is ensured;

thirdly, the spiritual potential of young people is related to the scientific achievements of our country, which is reflected in the life of the society through the general cultural and educational level of acquiring knowledge;

fourthly, the current era requires young people to live with a sense of belonging to the changes and updates implemented in the social-political, economic-cultural spheres of the country.

"The following are established as the main principles of the state policy on youth:

openness and transparency;

youth participation in the implementation of the state policy on youth;

stability of spiritual, moral and cultural values;

discrimination of young people should not be allowed"[9].

Today, a highly spiritual generation is growing up in our country, which understands the world in a new way, actively participates in the social and political life of the state, and is able to integrate the universally recognized principles of democracy with the life of our society. Such a result is achieved due to the fact that our young people study our national spiritual heritage and the achievements of world science in a dialectical relationship.
